

ETJ

English Teachers in Japan Empowering Learners and Teachers

A free association for English teachers in Japan

Publications

The ETJ Journal and Snakes and Ladders are sent free of charge to all members.

20% discounts on ELT materials

Members receive 20% discounts on all ELT books published by western publishers that are available in Japan. Orders should be sent to <Kyoko@DavidEnglishHouse.com> or visit the website at <http://www.eltnews.com/DEHForm>

Health care

ETJ members can receive discounts on comprehensive health care provided by Global Insurance.

Teacher Training

Members receive discounts on a range of teacher training courses. There are also ETJ Certificate courses in teaching Japanese students in Tokyo, Nagoya, Osaka and Fukuoka, and large annual Expos, with a wide range of presentations and displays of materials, held throughout Japan.

E-mail discussion groups

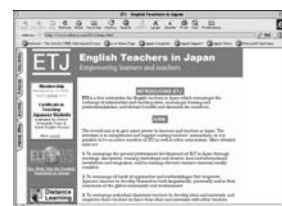

There is a general ETJ discussion group for exchanging ideas on teaching English in Japan. There are also special groups for school owners, exchanging classroom activities, and some for teachers in particular areas of Japan.

Regional groups

There are regional groups for teachers of young learners in many areas of Japan. Meetings are generally held about once every two months. If you would like to help set up a group in your area, please send an e-mail to <David@DavidEnglishHouse.com>

Website

Visit the ETJ website at <http://www.eltnews.com/ETJ> to find extensive information on ETJ's activities, and how you can be a part of the development of ETJ.
